No. 338.—The following resolution of the Government of India is republished :—

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE.

TARIFF.

Simla, the 30th August 1932.

No. 341-T. (104).—In their Resolution No. 341-T. (101), dated the 24th July 1932, the Government of India announced that they had received an application from the cotton textile industry requesting the Governor General in Council, in the exercise of his powers under section 3 (3) of the Indian Tariff Act, to increase the duty leviable on cotton piece-goods not of British manufacture and to take such further action as might be necessary under Part VII of the Import Tariff. It was further announced that the Government of India had decided to refer an immediate enquiry into the matter to be made by the Indian Tariff Board with the following terms of reference :—

To report whether cotton piece-goods not of British manufacture are being imported into British India at such a price as is likely to render ineffective the protection intended to be afforded by the duty imposed on such articles under Part VII of the Second Schedule of the Indian Tariff Act, 1894 by the Cotton Textile Industry (Protection) Act, 1930, to similar articles manufactured in India; and, if so, to consider—

(a) to what extent, if any, the duty on cotton piece-goods not of British manufacture should be increased and whether in respect of all cotton piece-goods not of British manufacture or in respect of cotton piece-goods, plain grey, only or of cotton piece-goods, others, only ;

(b) whether the duty should be increased generally, or in respect of such articles when imported from or manufactured in any country or countries specified ; and

(c) for what period any additional protection found to be required should be given ;

and to make recommendations.

2. The Tariff Board, after a consideration of all the causes which have helped to depress the prices of cotton piece-goods imported into India since the passing of the Cotton Textile Industry (Protection) Act of 1930, decided that the only factors which it was possible to take into consideration for the purpose of the enquiry were depreciation in the exchange value of foreign currencies and the fall which had taken place in the price of raw cotton. The Board has found that the only country, of those which send cotton piece-goods to India, whose currency has depreciated in relation to Indian currency, as compared with the ratio prevailing when protection was granted to the Indian industry, is Japan, and, after tracing the course of the rupee-yen exchange and of the prices at which cotton piece goods have been and are being imported into India from Japan, the Board has reached the conclusion that the determining factor in the decline in prices of these imports has been the depreciation in the value of the yen in relation to the rupee. This conclusion is, in the Board's view, supported by the fact that since last June a distinct upward movement in the price of raw cotton has taken place, while the extent to which the precipitate fall in the value of the yen has affected the imports of cotton piece-goods into India is illustrated by the very large increase in the volume of such imports from Japan which took place during the month of June, those imports representing contracts made since February last, when the fall in the value of the yen below parity began. Figures obtained by the Board from the Calcutta Custom House and from leading importers at Calcutta indicated a further considerable drop in the prices quoted forward for Japanese cotton piece goods, in arriving at the conclusions set out in its report the Board has given full and careful consideration to the representations made by the Japan Cotton Shippers and the Japanese Cotton Piecegoods and Yarn Importers' Associations and has made it clear that, while the effect of a depreciated exchange upon the prices of exported goods is of a temporary nature, it is capable while it lasts, of inflicting a most injury on a manufacturing industry in the country of import. The report further explains that in order to establish a case justifying the use of the powers conferred on the Governor General in Council by section 3 (3) of the Tariff Act it is unnecessary to show that goods are being imported at prices lower than the cost of production or than the internal sale prices in the exporting country, but only that the current prices of imported goods are lower than those which the scheme of protection for the local industry has been based.

3. The object of the Cotton Textile Industry (Protection) Act of 1930 was, as the report further sets out, to give substantive protection to the Indian industry but to preserve the industry as an important section of it, until the question of substantive protection had been considered and decided upon which the Tariff Board is now conducting an enquiry in accordance with the direction made to it in April last by the Government of India, and its present finding is strictly confined to the question whether the protection intended to be afforded until the 31st March 1933 is likely to be rendered ineffective. The Board has found that for the purpose as stated above the grant of additional protection to the Indian cotton textile industry has become immediately necessary, and, working from the basis of prices current in March 1930 and at the rate of duty then fixed by the Act, but calculated that, taking the value of the yen at Rs. 105 to 100 yen (the average rate during July) and making the necessary allowance for the fall in the price of raw cotton, the ad valorem duty on cotton piece goods not of British manufacture should be raised to 83 per cent in order to restore the measure of protection intended to be given to the Indian industry. The Government of India have carefully examined the Board's conclusions which have been briefly set out above and are in agreement with them.

4. In considering its recommendations the Board has expressed a doubt whether, in the particular circumstances, alteration of the rates of customs duties is the most suitable form in which to give the additional protection required and has made the suggestion that Government should examine the possibility of using the powers conferred on them under section 3 (2) of the Tariff Act to raise the value of goods imported from a country with a depreciated exchange for the purpose of assessment to duty to such extent as may be necessary from time to time to counteract fall in prices. The Government of India are unable to accept this suggestion. Ad valorem duties are assessed on the actual value of the goods imported, as nearly as it is capable of ascertainment, and the object of the statutory provision cited by the Board is not to enable arbitrary valuations to be assigned for particular purposes but to provide a method of fixing the actual value, after a careful consideration of market prices, as an alternative to ascertainment on "real value" as defined in section 30 of the Sea Customs Act.

5. Failing acceptance of the suggestion referred to in the preceding paragraph, the Board has recommended that the ad valorem duty on cotton piece-goods not of British manufacture, which was fixed by the Cotton Textile Industry (Protection) Act, 1930, at 20 per cent, and to which surcharges amounting to 11½ per cent have been added for revenue purposes by the Finance Act of 1931, should now be raised to 66 per cent and that the increased duty should remain in force until the 31st March 1933. In making the recommendation the Board has stated the view that the need for additional protection arises solely from the position created by the depreciation of the Japanese currency and that in view of the serious consequences with which the Indian industry is threatened by reason of the phenomenal increase in imports of cotton piece-goods from Japan, an additional duty on those imports is imperative. If, therefore, the Indo-Japanese Commercial Convention of 1904 is held to be a bar to any increase of the duty on Japanese goods alone, the Board recommends without hesitation that the proposed increase be applied to all cotton piece-goods not of British manufacture. The Board has made no recommendation in regard to the minimum specific duty on plain grey cotton piece-goods in the belief that section 3 (3) of the Tariff Act confers no power to alter that duty because it is not higher upon articles not of British manufacture than upon articles of British manufacture.

6. The Government of India have carefully considered these recommendations and have also given full weight to the representations which they have received against any further increase in the duties on cotton piece-goods. They accept the Board's recommendation in respect of the ad valorem duty on cotton piece goods not of British manufacture, but they wish to make it clear that the Trade-Agreement Commercial Convention of 1932 does not affect the preparation in any way the enactment of a higher duty upon goods of dispersed origin above. The specific duty and therefore be applicable to all cotton piece-goods not of British manufacture. As regards the minimum specific duty on plain grey cotton piece-goods, the Government of India are satisfied that the Governor General in Council has power to alter that rate, equally with the ad valorem rate, in all duty with which plain grey cotton piece goods are chargeable, for the two provisions in the duty are not a possible and the rate of duty, as a whole, applicable to articles not of British manufacture is higher than the rate applicable to similar articles of British manufacture. Having regard to the findings of the Board and to the general importance to the Indian cotton textile industry of the plain grey piece goods the Government of India consider that any measure of additional protection which omitted the class of imports from a scope would be a large section of the object. They have accordingly decided to increase the duty also upon plain grey piece-goods, and, following the general principle adopted by the Board in calculating the moderate necessary in the ad valorem rate of duty they have decided that the minimum specific duty should be raised to 5½ annas per pound. The increased duties will take effect immediately and will remain in force until the 31st March 1933 and will not be subject to the surcharge imposed by the Indian Finance (Supplementary and Extending) Act, 1931 and the Indian Finance (Supplementary and Extending) Act, 1931. In announcing their decision the Government of India desire to emphasise the fact that in accepting the necessity for a purely temporary increase they have in no way pledged the question whether the Indian cotton textile industry satisfies the conditions required to qualify it for the grant of substantive protection. That question is now under examination by the Tariff Board and will come under consideration by the Government of India in the course of the next few months.

2. The Report of the Tariff Board will be ready for publication on the 2nd September.

(3) The local body whose service the officer or servant enters may grant any leave and leave allowances admissible to him according to its service regulations but it shall not make the municipal council which granted the permission under sub-rule (1) liable either for a longer period of leave or for a larger amount of leave allowances than that communicated under sub-rule (2).

(4) The difference, if any, that may be required to make up the leave allowances due to the officer or servant shall be borne by the local body granting the leave.

(5) The local body granting the leave shall pay the leave allowances of the officer or servant from its own funds in the first instance and arrange to recover from the municipal council concerned the amount of leave allowances which the latter is liable to pay.

13. (1) Every officer or servant of a municipal council shall be required to retire on attaining the age of 55 years.

(2) (a) A ministerial officer or servant of a municipal council who has attained the age of 55 years but has not attained the age of 60 years may be retained in his service by the chairman.

(b) A non-ministerial officer or servant of a municipal council who has attained the age of 55 years and a ministerial officer who has attained the age of 60 years may be required in service by a resolution of the council passed at the instance of the chairman and approved by the Local Government.

(c) No extension of service shall be granted under this sub-rule for more than one year at a time.

14. A service book shall be maintained in such form as may be laid down by the Local Government from time to time for every officer or servant of a municipal council who is entitled to pension or who subscribes to the provident fund established and maintained by the council.

15. (1) The chairman shall be responsible for the correct and up-to-date maintenance of the service book of every officer or servant of the municipal council and he shall record an annual certificate of verification in the service book as early as possible after the end of every year.

(2) The Chairman may authorise the municipal engineer, health officer and the medical officer in charge of hospitals or dispensaries to record annual verification certificate on the service books of employees working under them.

16. No officer or servant shall be discharged on the abolition of his appointment or on the reduction of the emoluments thereof, unless he cannot be provided for otherwise. The selection of officers or servants to be discharged upon the reduction of establishment, shall ordinarily be so made that the least charge for compensation gratuity is incurred.

17. Reasonable notice shall be given to an officer or servant in permanent employ before he is discharged under rule 16. If, in any case, notice of at least three months is not given and the officer or servant has not been provided with other employment on the date on which his services are dispensed with, a gratuity not exceeding his emoluments for the period by which the notice actually given falls short of three months shall, with the sanction of the authority competent to dispense with the services of the officer or servant concerned, be paid to him in addition to the gratuity to which he may be entitled under the rules in that behalf.

18. (1) Unless it contains an express statement to the contrary, an order for the abolition of an appointment or for the reduction of the emoluments of an appointment shall not be brought into operation before the expiry of three months after notice has been given to the officer or servant whose services are to be dispensed with, on such abolition or reduction.

(2) The Chairman shall be responsible for avoiding any unnecessary delay in giving such notice.

19. In the case of an officer or servant on leave, the order shall not be brought into operation before the leave expires.

20. Compensation gratuity may be granted in accordance with the provisions in that behalf to an officer or servant of a municipal council discharged from its service on the abolition of his appointment as a result of reduction of establishment when other suitable employment cannot be found for him.

Explanation.—An appointment, the pay of which is reduced as part of a general scheme of revision is abolished within the meaning of this rule.
